TAX RELIEF DENIED

Circuit Court Judge Floyd J. Logan ruled in favor of the City of Bay St. Louis in an appeal by Glynn and Patricia Brown Bannister for reduction of assessments for 1977. Judge Logan filed the decision on August 14. William Frisbie, attorney representing the Bannisters, petitioned the Bay Council for a reduction in assessment but it was voted down by Council.

DR. LEVENS APPROVED

The Bay St. Louis Commission Council, upon recommendation by Mayor Larry Bennett, appointed Waveland's Dr. John Levens to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Jean Townsend on the Bay Waveland Municipal School Board. Waveland's Council recommended Dr. Levens for the post, but his nomination under state law, required approval of the Bay St. Louis Council. The School Board consists of five members, three appointed by Bay Council and two elected in Waveland. Ms. Townsend resigned when her family relocated to Washington State. Her term expires in March, 1979.

SCHEDULE MARATHON

Steve Longo and Mike Benvenuti are co-chairmen for a Marathon benefit for Muscular Dystrophy which will start at the Bay Bridge at 8 a.m. on September 3. The ten mile run will be from the Bay bridge to Buccannier Park and then back to Waveland City Hall. Participants will be seeking donations from sponsors. For further information call Benvenuti at 467-6507. The marathon is sponsored by the Waveland Civic Association and will tie-in with the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon to benefit Muscular Dystrophy.

FRIDAY DEADLINE

A few slots remain open in the General Clerical Program offered at Pearl River Junior College's Hancock County Vocational-Technical Center.

The General Clerical Course is a two semester, college level program which is offered during the day. Successful completion of this course will qualify individuals to enter the field as a file clerk, clerk-typist or in other clerical positions. Individuals interested in enrolling for this course should report to the Vo-Tech Center at Stennis Field on Friday at 8:30 a.m. for registration and beginning of classes.

LEADERS NEEDED

In girl Scouting you meet some wonderful people doing some important things in a special way, according to Ethel Schott, local girl scout leader.

"Girl Scouting is action - real and involved - wrought through a unique partnership of girls and adults," she said.

The Girl Scouts need more troop leaders to work with girls. If you can be a leader or an assistant leader, contact Ms. Schott at 467-9733.

Pass Christian youth drowns

Funeral services for Claud Andrew Frye, 21, 318 Fifth St., Pass Christian, were Wednesday at Riemann Funeral Home in Gulfport.

Frye drowned off Henderson Point in Pass Christian Saturday.

Richard Rosano of Bay St. Louis, a co-worker of the drowned youth, was walking along the beach when he saw Frye go underwater, according to the Pass Christian Fire Department.

Rosano said Frye had suffered a head injury Friday, but Harrison County Coroner Ed Little said the cause of death had no relation to the reported injury.

The Pass Christian Fire Department responded to the rescue call, along with the Pass Christian Police, Harrison County Sheriff, Bay St. Louis Fire Department, and Mobile Medic.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Alice C. Frye of Pass Christian; one sister, Miss Catherine Cecilia Frye of Ocean Springs; six brothers, Kenneth Darryl Frye, Barry Kevin Frye, and Mark James Frye, all of Pass Christian; Gilbert Edward Frye of Clinton, Md.; Bruce Michael Frye of San Diego, Cal.; and William Alan Frye of Grand Prairie, Tex.; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Frey, of Clinton, Md.

SCHOOL'S OPEN AGAIN—Lillie Mae Thomas, left, and James Teabont joined 350 school mates at Waveland Elementary Wednesday for 1978-1979 school year's opening day. Sheriff, Board clash over budget proposals

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner and the Hancock County Board of Supervisors clashed on details concerning the sheriff's proposed 1978-79 fiscal year budget Monday morning.

A lengthy, heated discussion was averted after a computation error was found in the sheriff's figures.

Ladner missed the July 15 deadline for submitting his 1978-79 budget to the board for approval and, as a result, the board approved a new budget for $185,000, the sheriff's department allocation for the previous year.

Ladner proposed a new budget of $217,881, the increase over last year partially due to a Grand Jury's suggestion that he hire three additional deputies with salaries totaling $173,520 for the year.

Board President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar estimated the sheriff's department would need at least a $20,000 increase over last year's budget "just to get the office through the last fiscal year."

Kellar blasted Ladner for, using the press to express his disagreement with the board.

"He can't do business through the papers," Kellar said, in criticizing

Fairgrounds improvements financing OK'd

Sale of bonds totalling $100,000 has been approved by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to finance improvements at Hancock County Fairgrounds.

When money from the sale of bonds is received, the supervisors plan to pay off $62,000 owed on a $75,000 bond issue in 1974, used to erect a fairgrounds building.

After the 1974 bond is paid off, said Chancery Court Clerk John Rutherford, approximately $35,000 will remain for new construction.

Walter Gex III, board attorney, explained that the board's action in approving the money for construction is binding unless 20 percent of county taxpayers sign a petition requesting an election on the bond issue.

Jean Shop burglarized over weekend

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Jean and Top Shop, Waveland, was burglarized Sunday night, according to Waveland Police.

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn reports the incident under investigation, with no suspects as yet.

Donald Lusich, owner, reported a loss of approximately $8,500 to $9,000 Monday, with possibly more after a thorough inventory.

Lusich reported 550-600 jeans, 100 blouses, 10 dozen belts, 6 dozen T-shirts, 15 pair of shoes and 4 dozen dress shirts missing.

Entry was gained through a back door, according to police.

Bouslog sewer project extended to include four more streets

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday was unanimous in accepting a proposal by Brown Engineers, Inc. to install sewer lines on parts of Old Spanish Trail, Gladstone, Seventh, and Turner Streets.

The extensions come under the Bouslog Street extension program which is a MEDA project. Mayor Larry Bennett noted EDA's Atlanta office must give final approval because of the change order.

Some of the funds being used on the sewer extension are from EDA for a proposed US-90 pedestrian overpass which was scrapped when the State Supreme Court ruled students living one mile from school must be bused.

In the proposal by Engineer Joe Brown Jr., the areas selected will serve the most families for approximately $100,000 in the combined funds for the project.

Brown also made a proposals on Phase Two and Phase Three continuations of the projects in the areas when monies become available.

In other business, Council looked over the plans for a sewer extension to the field house at Bay High Tiger Stadium. Specifications are to be ready in a day or two, according to Buddy Broadway of Broadway and Seals Engineers.

Broadway gave Council a fixed price of $1,500 for his fee for the project because it was a small project.

Broadway is also doing some pre-application work for the water, sewer and drainage loans and grants from Farmers Home Administration.

Originally, only water and sewer projects qualified, but according to Wayne Smith, local FHA representative, there is now a possibility of adding sewerage to the project.

Hancock schools issue bus driver's guidebook

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County School District's first bus driver's handbook was approved for the 1978-79 school year at a recess meeting of the Hancock County School Board Monday.

The handbook, issued by Assistant School Superintendent Mike Necaise, offers specific instructions on what procedures to follow concerning student discipline, bus schedules, breakdowns, and accidents.

"We've got a real good, conscientious, professional team of bus drivers this year," said Necaise, district transportation supervisor.

He said 31 buses are available to the district schools but three will be kept in reserve in case of breakdowns.

He said the buses will travel 20 separate routes to and from the schools, and will carry approximately 2,000 students each day.

The buses will travel 225,200 miles this year and will consume 63,600 gallons of gasoline in the process," Necaise said.

He gave some transportation tips for students travelling on the buses this year.

Superintendent tells Chamber

Space shortage imminent, bond issue unavoidable

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County Schools will need 33 additional classrooms within three years to accommodate an estimated 1,000 additional students expected in the district.

Superintendent Terry Randolph, in an address to the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night, said enrollment in county schools has increased 400 students since 1974, and will probably increase 1,000 students within four to five years.

"I predict a 47.7 percent enrollment increase in Hancock County Schools by 1989," Randolph said.

Randolph used the figures to show the need he feels exists for a new junior-senior high school complex in the southwest section of Hancock County.

"To date, we have spent $547,000 on school construction this year," Randolph continued.

Randolph said only $90,000 for construction last year was local funds, the rest of the money coming from state and federal grants.

"Hancock County School District is still short eight classrooms and eight temporary classrooms," he added.

"We have to do something now to prepare classrooms for the education of these new students, and the only way possible to do this is pass a bond issue in Hancock County," he said.

"The most feasible way is to construct a new junior-senior high school in the southern end of Hancock County," he added.

Even the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate and Hancock County Districts were to consolidate, Randolph said, classrooms would have to be added.

"I would like to see a new junior-senior high school that could seat 800 students," Randolph said.

Randolph said the school could be built with "revenue not foreseen a year ago," referring to new oil and gas exploration bonuses and royalties from 16th Section lands.

He said four 16th Sections owned by the district have been sold for $626,925, mostly to Union, Ensearch, and Saga Petroleum Companies.

He surmised within three to four weeks five more parcels of the county's 16th Section land would be leased for around $627,000.

Randolph said a State Department of Education feasibility study team is coming to Hancock County to help find solutions to the overcrowding problem the schools are experiencing.

"The team has two or three alternatives," said Randolph.

The state team could either recommend consolidating the two existing school districts into one, or recommend building a new school, Randolph explained.

NORDA views ocean currents by satellite

The possibility that radar beamed from a satellite can be used to locate ocean surface eddies and currents has been indicated by a recent experiment conducted jointly by NSTL's Naval Ocean Research and Development Activity (NORDA) and Canada, off the Newfoundland coast.

The experiment, which used aircraft radar, appeared to show that ocean roughness patterns seen by radar correlate closely with the presence of eddies and currents.

Radar equipment aboard the recently launched SEASAT will be used to confirm this possibility. SEASAT is the first satellite specifically designed to collect oceanographic data, according to a report from NORDA at NSTL.

The location and study of surface eddies and currents is of special interest to the Navy. Their consistent feature is that their temperature is either colder or warmer than the surrounding ocean.

Since the surface of the ocean interacts with the atmosphere to produce changes in the weather, the understanding and eventual prediction of these temperature differentials can aid greatly in making long-range ocean environmental forecasts. In addition, ocean temperature changes affect performance of underwater acoustic anti-submarine search and surveillance systems.

The information would also be useful in the fishing industry since the location of certain types of fish, including shell fish, is affected by ocean temperatures.

Satellite infrared imagery, which can sense these temperature differentials, has been used to locate eddies and currents. Satellites can provide a broad or synoptic view of the ocean surface, but satellite infrared data cannot be obtained through clouds of haze which can continue for long periods.

Radar data, which can be obtained in all kinds of weather, would be a valuable supplement to infrared data.

The joint NORDA-Canadian study, statements made by Ladner after the board acted on his budget before he submitted a proposal for the coming year.

Budget Clash...

In reference to the budget increase, Kellar said, "We can barely keep our heads above water with the general County budget as it is."

Ladner said the board never helped his department.

"I asked for a five percent increase, you give me three," the sheriff argued. "I asked for a $50 raise for my employees, you give me $40," he continued.

"I can't get a decent secretary for the $600 you allow. She has to know bookkeeping and typing. Law enforcement can't tell what costs will be from day-to-day," he added.

"I don't know what your beef is with the board, but we bend over backwards to help you," Kellar countered.

"We've been cut two mills from last year, losing $90,000 from the General County Fund from last year," he added.

Upon closer examination of Ladner's proposed budget, the Board detected an accounting error in wages for the new deputies.

The budget Ladner submitted listed the salaries for the deputies at $158,798 for the year.

Kellar said the correct figure should have been $178,520, an underestimate by the Sheriff of $14,722.

Kellar suggested that Ladner correct errors in the budget and resubmit the figures at a later meeting.

The supervisor approved purchase of two vehicles for the Sheriff's Department from Bubba Oustalet Ford of Gulfport with 50-50 matching funds from the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration.

Oustalet's bid of $5,409 for two 1978, four-door LTD II's was lowest.

Other bids on supplying the cars were received from Turan Lane Chevrolet in Bay St. Louis at $5,825 each, and Schuffert Pontiac of Bay St. Louis at $5,820.

In other action at the Monday morning meeting, Wilson W. Webre, executive director of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission, asked the board to obligate $125,000 in county funds for purchase of necessary properties required by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers before the Corps will proceed on construction of a proposed anchorage basin near Bayou Cadet.

"The Corps is pressing you to agree to where the money is coming from for land near Bayou Cadet for the anchorage basin," Webre told the board.

A 24 acre section of land was appraised by the Corps earlier this year, and some of the marsh land the Corps called "vastly improved from native state" was appraised at $7,000 an acre by the Corps, Webre said.

He said a "fully implemented anchorage basin plan would cost at least half a million dollars."

Webre said the Coastal Energy Impact Commission offered to loan $500,000 to the commission at low interest to build the anchorage, complete with roads and electricity.

"We need the land appraised before we can obligate any money," said Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge.

The board recommended a local appraiser be authorized to set a value on the land in question, and took the matter under advisement.

Webre also resubmitted the Port and Harbor Commission's 1978-79 budget for the board's approval Monday.

A proposed Commission budget of $195,000 was rejected by the board in July, the supervisors claiming the budget was one mill or $45,000 too high.

"The commission re-studied our budgetary requirements for 1978-79 and remains of the opinion that in order to successfully fund the needs and requirements of the commission, the amount of $195,000 should not be reduced," said Webre.

He said the resubmitted budget recommends utilization of $45,000 of construction funds rather than the one mill of ad valorem taxes to which the Supervisors objected.

"I can't cut $45,000 from my budget without firing a lot of people," Webre said.

The proposed revised budget was taken under advisement by the board. Webre asked the board to approve a $2-an-hour increase in pay from $4 to $6-an-hour for a field program supervisor at Port Blenville.

He stated that a person with the capabilities needed to fill the supervisory job, which Webre described as being equal to a "city's utility plant supervisor" at Port Blenville, would require a starting wage of $6-an-hour.

Webre also complained that a labor shortage exists in Hancock County.

He said an industry which he couldn't name at this time would be opening "in the next two to 2.5 years, creating between 200 and 400 local jobs in the county."

He said the local labor shortage was in part due to DuPont's Delisle pigmentation plant which he said is causing a "labor impact."

Burial was in St. Joseph Cemetery at Rotten Bayou.

TOXICOLOGY LAB

Construction will begin within a month on a toxicology building on the main campus of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs. Dr. Harold D. Howse, laboratory director, states that the new facility will house the most modern toxicology laboratories in Mississippi.

"These laboratories will be used to raise and hold experimental animals and plants while we study them to learn what effects toxic substances have on them." These new facilities will enable the scientific staff to learn what happens to all kinds of life forms when they are subjected to any type of toxic or harmful material that may enter the natural environment.

school bus stops at least five minutes before pick-up time," he said.

"This way if the bus is a few minutes early, time won't be wasted waiting for students," Necaise added.

In other action Monday, the board approved loaning Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District two buses until arrival of two new buses ordered by the City Schools.

Bay Schools Superintendent J. D. McCullough estimated the buses will arrive in October.

Also at the meeting the board approved substitute teachers at county schools.

Substitute teachers include Winnie Carver, Jane M. Jefferson, Beverly

Ladner, Christie C. LaFontaine, Hertha G. Morris, Julian R. Smith, Danny Penton, Ruth Ann Breeland, Brenda Gayle Kennedy, Peggy Ann Alkire, Becky McArthur, Kathy Boyet, Tina Schultz, Julia Cuevas, Bonnie Ladner, Brenda Shaw, Jewel Anderson, Betty Necaise, and Nell Lee.

The board accepted the resignation of Elizabeth Benvenuti, speech therapist who was hired at the previous board meeting. She has reportedly decided to continue her education and return to school.

Motions to accept resignations from Danny Howard, high school band instructor, and Charles B. Murphy Elementary teacher Marietta Murphy failed for lack of a second.

A motion to increase milk and breakfast prices at Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview Elementaries was approved by the board.

The increase price in milk, 11 cents per half-pint, a one percent increase over last year, and breakfast prices are hiked from 15 cents to 20 cents for students and 25 cents to 30 cents adults.

Emergency repair on a butane gas line at Hancock North Central was approved, with the $900 job awarded to Lew Monti of Monti-Carver Plumbers, Bay St. Louis.

Emergency repairs on a wastewater plant pump at Gulfview Elementary were approved by the board, calling for Wastewater Plant Service Company of Pass Christian to perform the necessary work, not to exceed $1008.

Bids to install fences around the HNC football field and Gulfview Elementary grounds were approved, the contract going to Dogwood Nursery in Gulfport.

Installation of fencing at the two sites will cost $6,064.

The board approved a motion to advertise for bids on a washer and dryer at Murphy Elementary for use in cleaning athletic gear.

A motion to paint the halls in the HNC Elementary addition at a cost of $230 was approved.

called the Grand Banks experiment, was conducted this summer. Purpose was to determine if the roughness of the ocean is regularly modified by eddies and currents.

A variety of instruments aboard USNS LYNCH, an oceanographic survey ship, was used to measure surface roughness. These measurements were compared with data from satellites, Navy aircraft, and a side-looking radar operated from a Coast Guard aircraft.

The results revealed that currents markedly modify surface roughness, side of the current boundaries than on and these differences can be detected by radar.

NORDA'S Paul La Violette, the scientist who coordinated the experiment, called the correlation "beautiful."

There is no question but that the surface roughness was different on one side of the current boundaries than on the other side. We also found what seemed to be shear zones, which aligned themselves with current boundaries, he said.

Other NORDA personnel who participated in the experiment were scientists Don Burns, Dr. Paul Mazeika, John Schmidt and Warren Sandborn.

The Grand Banks experiment was designed to pay the way for the application of a special radar aboard the SEASAT in the next phase of the experiment scheduled for May 1979.

The SEASAT radar uses a synthetic aperture that can provide a fine resolution of surface roughness patterns and infer the ocean's current regime.

The May experiment will also make use of sophisticated radar aboard several aircraft, sensor aboard a selected group of satellites, and two oceanographic research ships.

Bond Issue...

Asked if operation costs would be too expensive for two schools, Randolph replied, "Regardless of where we build, added classrooms, added teachers and additional electric bills will be necessary."

Randolph says the additional operating costs will be offset by increasing ad valorem taxes.

"I propose, for the best interests of Hancock County, a bond issue to finance the building of a new school," Randolph said.

"For people in the north section of the county the need for new school cannot be seen, but in the lower end of the county, a high school is needed," he said.

In other action, the Chamber of Commerce discussed supporting the Mississippi Association for Tax Equalization, an independent group attempting to pass a tax equalization bill through state legislation.

After discussion, the Chamber decided the issue requires more study. The Chamber's role in the Industrial Showcase in Jackson in October was discussed.

The Chamber plans to send members to man industrial display booths on October 20-22.

Final arrangements for the Hancock County Livestock Show and Fair have been made, and the Chamber is planning 15 industrial and retail merchant's booths to represent Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The fair will run from September 25 to 30.

Gumbo Festival ball caps and T-shirts have been printed for the upcoming seafood festival.

The event at Necaise Crossing is to be held October 6-8.

Hieroglyphics offered this term

Ancient Egyptian hieroglyphic language will be taught at the University of Southern Mississippi this fall as part of a continuing program known as "Introduction to Exotic Languages."

The course comprises a survey of ancient Egyptian with emphasis on reading inscriptions of hieroglyphs. The class will be offered Tuesdays and Thursdays from 1 to 2:15 p.m. Course instructor will be Dr. Roger Johnson, Jr.

The USM Department of Foreign Languages, which is offering the course, has offered introductory courses in languages not regularly taught; this is the second time the class in Egyptian hieroglyphics has been offered.

Other languages in the series have included Chinese, Kiswahili, Japanese, Sanskrit and Arabic.

Exotic language courses differ from those in main language areas (French, German, Latin, Spanish, Greek, Italian and Russian) in that they are usually limited to one or two semesters.

While this is insufficient time to master a language, it does offer the mature student an opportunity to learn a great deal about the language and culture presented.

In the Egyptian class, students will be able to read excerpts from texts and inscriptions up to 4500 years old.

USM Alumni

Research Award goes to Rayborn

An associate professor of physics at the University of Southern Mississippi has been awarded the USM Alumni Association Faculty Research Award for 1978.

Dr. Grayson Rayborn Jr. received the award during USM's summer graduation exercises for outstanding scholastic contributions to his academic field and to the university community.

The award recipient was presented with a plaque and a scholarship in his name and field of study will be given for the fall semester at USM.

An 11 member committee composed of representatives from each college and school at USM selected the 37 year old educator for his research achievements in the field of atomic and molecular physics.

AMERICAN CLASSICS

Having soup and sandwich for lunch dates back at least to early railroad days when food counters appeared in busy stations. Today, this favorite combination is an American classic enjoyed at home or away.

Another favorite is chicken, each year the average American eats more than 40 pounds in a myriad of ways, including the chicken salad sandwich. Coupled with ever-popular condensed tomato soup, it's sure to be a summertime lunchtime hit.

CLASSIC

CHICKEN SALAD SANDWICH
1 can (5 ounces) Chunk White Chicken
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
4 cup chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tablespoon ketchup
1 teaspoon sweet pickle relish
4 slices, bread
In bowl, combine ingredients, chill. Serve as a sandwich filling. Makes about 1 1/2 cups, enough for 2 sandwiches.

Your assistance needed

There is a severe need in Hancock County for "Jaws of Life" power rescue tools.

The firemen's associations and rescue units of Hancock county have set up a fund at Gulf National Hancock and Merchants Banks for anyone interested in making a tax deductible contribution toward purchase of this vitally needed equipment.

We know you want to know why are these tools needed. Well, the recent tragedy on Highway 603 was a prime example of how emergency personnel could have used such tools. Gulfport Rescue which was 33 miles away and the only one south of Hattiesburg to have such equipment, was able to use its equipment to help free the victims but it took some time to reach the scene. One victim could not even be reached or touched until the "Jaws of Life" arrived.

Instead of victims being reached in a few minutes, it was over 30 minutes before some could be removed from the crashed vehicles.

We regret the need to use the Hwy. 603 tragedy as an example and we apologize to the families, but because of the serious necessity of our emergency people having such equipment, we felt it necessary.

The "Jaws of Life" are unbelievable in the things they can do: cut the top off an automobile in only seconds; pull cars apart; open or remove car doors, pull the steering column, cut all types of metals; jack up vehicles, and much more.

The cost of one unit is between $4,800 and $5,200. At present there are three paid fire departments in Hancock County excluding NSTL.

According to the last special census there were over 19,000 residents in Hancock County. With an average of a little less than one dollar per resident, the three much needed units can be purchased.

Rescue people will tell you there are many times in an accident when someone is cut and bleeding and needs immediate first aid care to save his life. If rescue people are not able to reach him in time, he could die. If with the purchase of the "Jaws of Life" only one person is saved, they will be more than worth the price.

It could be us, you, or a member of your family trapped following a car accident. They happen everyday, and no one knows when the next one will include him.

Rescue people cannot save all the victims of accidents, but, how would you feel if you had to stand by and watch someone die because he or she couldn't be reached; if a victim had an artery severed and was bleeding to death and it would take to save his wife would be a little pressure some place on his body, but he could not be reached through tangled wreckage.

The next time you are at your local bank, give a little donation for the "Jaws of Life."

We understand there will be a demonstration in the near future on the "Jaws of Life." We will keep you informed about where and when.

For all football fans

With football opening Friday night at Hancock North Central and Bay Senior High, Pass Christian on September 1 and St. Stanislaus on Sept. 8, we urge the fans of the above to read the message below from the Mississippi High School Activities Association, Inc.:

"TO: Principles of member schools.
FROM: M. P. Smith, executive secretary
Gentlemen:

"The Executive Committee of the Mississippi High School Activities Association, Incorporated, requested the executive secretary to release a statement to the news media pointing up the fact that member schools are responsible for the conduct of those connected with their schools both at home and on the road with special emphasis on the fact that the conduct of partisan fans can result in a severe penalty, including suspension, being levied against member schools."

The schools are responsible for your actions, as the letter states.

Support your favorite team whether it be the Tigers, Hawks, Rock-A-Chaws or Pirates. Let us all fill the stands for each game in the spirit of sportsmanship.

Hancock County Chamber of Commerce

Volume 1, No. 8

Miss Sord - The entire Gulf Coast is seeking a young lady to be Miss SOND. SOND means September, October, November and December. The idea of SOND is to bring more tourists into our area during our slow tourist months. All businesses will benefit from this additional revenue to our area.

In order to be a contestant, the young lady must be between the ages of 18-24, unmarried and reside in Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties. The deadline for applications (pick them up at the Chamber office) is August 25. The contest is September 7 at the Coliseum. Many events are planned for Miss SOND and it should be an exciting time for the lucky young lady that is chosen.

New Director - Wayne Ducomb of Mississippi Monitor Publications was elected to fill the unexpired term of Jay Triche. The Chamber welcomes Wayne as a new director and takes this opportunity to thank Jay for the years of service he has given to this Chamber of Commerce.

Plaques - All members should have received their new Chamber plaque. This plaque was especially designed to compliment our new distinctive and unique logo. We hope you will display it with pride. If you did not receive your plaque, please call our office.

United Way - The 1978 United Way Campaign for Hancock County begins September 1. Did you know the following agencies are supported by this fund? Senior Citizens Programs, RSVP, Hancock County Emergency Relief Fund, American Red Cross-Hancock County Chapter, Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, Catholic Social Services, Gulfside Boys Home, Girl Scouts-Gulf Pines Council, Boy Scouts-Cypress District, Hancock County

Blood Bank, Goodwill Industries, Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund, U.S.O. (Worldwide).

More than likely one of these agencies has helped you or your family in a time of need. Please be generous and mail your contribution today to United Way of Hancock County, P.O. Box 142, Bay St. Louis, Ms. 39520

Morning Edition - We hope you did not miss our first morning coffee. A special thanks to Leo Seal, Jr., for a most informative talk. This early morning coffee will be held quarterly and we promise to continue to have outstanding speakers at each meeting.

Small Business Administration (SBA) - The Chamber contacted SBA and we have available at the Chamber office the following booklets: Danger Signals in a Small Store, Reducing Shoplifting Losses, Business Plan for Retailers, Public Relations for Small Business, and Knowing Your Image.

These are very informative booklets and we hope you will take advantage of these helpful suggestions. Just give us a call and we will be glad to send them to you.

Welcome to Our Newest 1978 Chamber Members - Bay Technical Associates, Inc., Bay-Waveland Tire Company-Goodyear, Joseph Cuevas, Sea Cities Commercial Inv. Design, TV Facts of South Mississippi, Rev. Charles Clark, Seymour's Jewelry & Gift Store, General Homes - Gulf Coast.

Enclosed are additional memberships that have joined since the printing of the Chamber's Membership Directory. Attach these additions to your directory and keep for further reference.

This is the Place - HANCOCK COUNTY - This is the place...Where I worship God, where I have my home.

A good suggestion

One of our subscribers suggested another lane on Beach Boulevard this past week.

The Wave Pool at Buccaneer Park, scheduled to open in May of the coming year is a factor in itself which would warrant such an improvement of Beach Boulevard.

Another lane of traffic could be placed on the water side of Beach Boulevard with parking bays on the water side. That would eliminate beach users from having to cross in front of the traffic.

We realize something like this would take money and time to do, but, the time is now to get the plans on paper and start looking for monies to do such a needed improvement.

Several things could be done to help the parking problem until such a project could be completed. We do not see why the Hancock County Board of Supervisors does not clear the right-of-way of Beach Boulevard, removing all barriers which are placed illegally on county property to keep people from parking alongside the boulevard.

We just wonder who would be responsible if someone would have a blowout going down the Beach and would run into one of these barriers - the property owner who put it up illegally or the Board of Supervisors or both?

The Beach is supposed to be for all to use, but there seems to be a few who think they have sole ownership. It is time for the Board of Supervisors to set these people straight about who owns the Beach front.

Of course, this goes back to a lot of things, including a few people telling the majority what they can or cannot do. The things which would benefit the most are the things which never get done. It is time for the political leaders to look out for the majority, not the minority.

We don't have to tell you about the sorry condition of the Beach road, if you have driven over it recently. We also don't have to tell you that some supervisors maintain their part of the Beach while others forget it even is in their district.

Other examples of the few telling the majority what they can do is the proposed Marina in Bay St. Louis. And what about the Apartment complex in Bay St. Louis.

We, the voters of Hancock County, should wake up before it is too late. When we go to the polls, elect those who will look out for the majority and not the minority.

If someone is in office and not doing what you think is right, be sure and get someone else to take his or her place. You know the County Election will be next August. Now would be a very good time to take a close look at the works of the present political leaders.

They work for us. Our taxes pay their salaries. True, they cannot please everyone, but they should please the majority and not the minority.

Our County is large enough to support industry, agriculture, recreation, resort and be a bedroom community for those working elsewhere.

We can have everything and not lose anything. We realized that Beach Boulevard isn't the only road needing upgrading, but it should be high on the priority list like Highway 603 from the Crossroads to US-90.

Youth official to be Jaycee event speaker

Charles Carter Jr., Hancock County youth court administrator, will be featured speaker at the annual Bay St. Louis Jaycee officer installation banquet Wednesday.

The event is slated for 7 p.m. at Wheel Inn Restaurant, US-90, Bay St. Louis.

Carter will also formally install the 1978-79 officers and directors of the Bay St. Louis Jaycees.

He is a 1949 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School. He earned a B.S. degree from the University of Southern Mississippi in 1966, with a double major in radio-tv and marketing.

He is a Navy veteran of the Korean War; past charter secretary of the Bay St. Louis Jaycees and has held every office in the local organization. He was also state national director, state vice president and was state president of the Mississippi Jaycees in 1965-66.

Carter is a charter member of the Gulf Coast Advertising Club, past member of the Public Relations Association of Mississippi, charter director of the United Way of Hancock County, was director of the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre for eight years and past county chairman for the Hancock County Heart Fund.

Gary Collins, banquet chairman, said, "Mayor Larry Bennett and a state Jaycee officer will also be speakers for the evening and an artist's rendering of the Jaycee Home, now under construction, will be unveiled."

"I would like to urge all Jaycee members and their guests to attend Wednesday and to please make reservations before Sat.," Collins added.

Wednesday marks the first anniversary of the local Jaycee chapter. Last year the Jaycees chartered with 20 members, present membership is 55.

Reservations for the banquet are $7.50 per person in advance and attire for the evening is semi-formal. There will be a social hour beginning at 7 p.m. with the program beginning at 8 p.m. A rib eye steak dinner will be served.

Corps OK's River span

Permits to construct a railroad spur crossing Wolf River, DeLisle Bayou, and Turkey Creek in Harrison County have been granted by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to Southern Mississippi Transportation Company, a wholly owned subsidiary of DuPont Company.

The spur will connect the Illinois Central Gulf Railroad main line in Gulfport to DuPont's DeLisle plant construction site, a Corps report indicated.

The Corps conducted a public meeting in March to hear public comments prior to making a decision to grant permits for the railroad span.

"Special restrictions in the permit have been included to safeguard important wetlands and minimize environmental disturbance," said Colonel Charlie L. Blalock, district engineer at Mobile, Ala.

"Southern Mississippi Transportation Company must strictly comply with every condition and requirement imposed by Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Commission," the Colonel added.

Dear Miss Rappold:
Miss Rappold, I want to thank you for kindness and interest when I called at your office to ask assistance in getting the work done on my property on Waveland and Water Streets.

I left Waveland about two hours after I spoke to you, and not only did Herman (Herman Yarborough, Waveland superintendent of streets) come out and look at the inconveniences I had with the unfilled portion of the sidewalk on Waveland Street and the hole in the middle of the driveway in the street that prevented my entering the yard, but my neighbor told me it was about two hours after I left that the work was completed.

Your and Herman's assistance is surely appreciated, and if there is anything I can do to assist you please ask me. As I told you, I am retired from the Veterans' Administration Regional Office here in New Orleans, and if there is anything in line of veterans' benefits information you need, I will be glad to

Consumer protection agency cracks down on insulation

The Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) announced plans to enforce an interim standard that will address the flammability and corrosiveness of cellulose insulation.

The "Emergency Interim
Consumer Product Safety Rule Act of 1978," signed into law by President Carter requires CPSC to issue an interim safety standard for cellulose insulation.

The standard, which will soon be issued by CPSC, should enable consumers to buy cellulose insulation during this fall's heavy demand period with assurance that the products meet minimum Federal safety requirements.

The new CPSC standard employs a test to measure flame spread from a U. S.
General Services Administration specification (HH-1-515C) used to procure insulation for the Federal Government. When the standard becomes effective 60 days from now, cellulose insulation must be able to pass this test when placed in a 25-foot Steiner tunnel and ignited. If the flames spread too far within a certain time, the insulation cannot legally be sold.

The Act requires all consumers of cellulose insulation to be conspicuously labeled:

"Attention: This material
meets the applicable minimum Federal flammability standard. This standard is based upon laboratory tests only, which do not represent actual conditions which may occur in the home."

In addition the Commission's staff is also preparing a rule that would require manufacturers to provide consumers with information concerning proper installation.

The standard also prohibits sale of cellulose insulation that does not pass a corrosiveness test in the GSA specification. Some chemical treatments used to reduce the flammability of cellulose insulation, such as large amounts of sulfates, can corrode metal and may undermine the structural integrity of a building.

The Act requires the Commission to incorporate into the standard GSA revisions to the flammability and corrosion provisions of the GSA specification, unless the Commission finds that these revisions are not necessary to protect consumers or that these revisions will create an undue burden.

Enforcement of the standard will begin in early September with CPSC inspection of more than 200 cellulose manufacturers over the next year to check compliance with the standard and to collect samples for flam-mability and corrosiveness testing. CPSC's staff is preparing an enforcement strategy. A detailed statement on that strategy is due to Congress 45 days from today, followed in six months by test results of samples of cellulose insulation made by at least 25 manufacturers, and in another six months by test results of samples of cellulose insulation made by at least 25 manufacturers, and in another six months by test results of samples from at least 50 different cellulose manufacturers.

Violations of the standard could bring civil penalties up to $2,000 per count with a maximum $500,000 fine, or criminal penalties up to 50,000 or one year in jail or both.

To instruct cellulose manufacturers, consumers and other interested parties about the new Federal requirements, CPSC has scheduled meetings in large cities from coast to coast. The meetings will be held in:
Chicago, Aug. 22; Seattle,
Aug. 29; San Francisco, Aug.

30; Los Angeles, Aug. 31;
Boston, Sept. 6; New York
City, Sept. 7; Pittsburgh, Sept.
8; Kansas City, Sept. 20;
Atlanta, Sept. 21; Salt Lake City, Sept. 26; Twin Cities (Minneapolis-St. Paul), Sept.
27; and Cleveland, Sept. 28.
A "Fact Sheet No. 91: Home Insulation Safety" is available as an aid to consumers who are insulating or reinsulating their dwellings. Copies can be obtained free-of-charge by writing: Home Insulation,

Consumer Product Safety
Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207.

Consumers with questions about the new safety standard are urged to call CPSC's toll-free Hotline at 800-638-2666.

Retired Telephone Pioneers devote time to community service projects

By EDGAR PEREZ
The Telephone Pioneers of America's Gulf Sands Life Member Club, composed of Gulf Coast residents who have retired from the Telephone Company, recently celebrated its 10th anniversary.

In connection with its anniversary celebration, the club has released a list of agencies it has served and community service projects in which club members have been involved.

"We hope in this way to alert the general public to our potential for future service to needy and deserving organizations and individuals," said C. W. Toenes of Biloxi, club spokesman.

Among the organizations which have received assistance from the Pioneers are Waveland School for Retarded Children; the Biloxi Public School System; School for Exceptional Children, Pascagoula; Day Care Center, Pascagoula; Harrison County Home for Aged; Adult Vocational School; and Holy Angels Private School, Biloxi.

The Gulf Sands members, many of whom are skilled electronics technicians, have furnished, refurbished and maintained a wide variety of items to those listed agencies.

They include: Talking dolls, encode machines, blinking eye animals, quiet books, instructional traffic lights, diaper changing tables, clown dolls, stuffed dolls, bed socks, lap robes, shawls, stand-up tables for polio patients, tool chests, cabinets for books and clothes, and small portable organs.

Other items include children's wheel chairs, climbing monkeys, safety belts for polio patient swings, tricycles, chair caddies, merry-go-rounds, classroom pin-up boards, and talking books and cassettes for the blind.

In addition, the club has staged and provided decorations for Christmas parties.

Quilting classes planned at Library

Free quilting classes will be held for six consecutive Tuesdays beginning September 5, from 10 - 11:30 a.m. in the Crawford Room at City-County Library, Bay St. Louis.

Class size is limited so interested persons must pre-register by visiting or calling City-County Library at 467-5282. The class will be taught by Betsy Nolan, an experienced quilter from California.

She has been an active quilter for many years and was a charter member of the Santa Clara Valley Quilters Association, one of the largest and most active in the nation. In addition, she has participated in the Hunter Museum Quilting Symposium in Chattanooga, Tenn. For the past two years she has directed a local Monday morning sewing class.

The six week course being offered at City-County Library is designed to introduce a sampling of quilting techniques and offer encouragement and help with individual quilting projects.

Techniques to be covered will be patchwork, applique, log cabin and cathedral window.

For further information and pre-registration, call City County Library, 467-5282.

Civil Defense, college credit among new ETV school series

Civil defense instruction, college credit for teacher recertification and 25 new instructional series are new Mississippi ETV offerings for the 1978-79 school year.

"Civil defense instruction will be added as a new service to schools," said Lee Morris, executive director of ETV. "Since civil defense instruction must be included in each elementary and secondary school in order to meet minimum requirements for school accreditation, we hope these programs will be a help to schools."

In addition, a civil defense in-service program will be produced and broadcast for teachers to help them successfully implement civil defense classroom instruction.

Also, beginning this fall, school superintendents will be able to offer college credit courses via ETV, to their faculty for in-service training and for credit toward recertification.

Three of the six college credit programs in the fall broadcast schedule have been approved by the State Department of Education for teacher recertification. Interested teachers should contact their school superintendents.

The 25 new instructional series that have been added to the roster include: five new series in language arts; four in science; five in social studies; two in math; one in music; three in career, consumer and economic education; two in health and safety; one in industrial-vocational education; and two teacher in-service series. The new daytime instructional schedule begins the week of September 10.

The new series are as follows:

"The Short Story": works of American and European authors; designed to stimulate comparisons and contrasts of literary styles of the 19th century. Junior-senior high.

"Juba": to help children develop a better understanding of the rich tradition of Afro-American folklore. Grades two through five.

"Gather Round": to provide students with enjoyable storytelling-listening experiences and introduce them to folk tales, fairy tales and legends from around the world. Kindergarten through grade three.

"Write On": demonstrates the essential methods of correct and clear writing in a humorous and dramatic style. Junior-senior high.

"Readalong III": designed to make learning to read fun by use of animation, puppets, humor and music. Grade three.

"Breakthrough": highlights the breakthroughs to new knowledge occurring in various science fields and altering the way people live now and in the future. Senior high.

"Matter and Motion": basic physical science. Intermediate grades.

"Relationships in Nature": explorations of the natural environment and examinations of wildlife. Grades four through six.

"Universe and I": designed to be a motivational series and to help students develop constructive attitudes toward the study of science. Grades eight and nine.

"Child Life in Other Lands": visits to other children in other lands in their homes, schools and communities. Grades four through six.

"People, Places and Things": depicts facets of community life, family life, the neighborhood and the larger community. Grades one through three.

"Rights and Responsibilities": makes use of case studies to examine the duties and 'privileges' of the individuals in a free society. Grades nine through 12.

"Societies in Transition": presents backgrounds of contemporary life and situations and of humans' changing values. Grades 10 through 12.

"Under the Blue Umbrella": designed to present basic social studies facts and to provide visual experiences that aid in social development. Grades one through three.

"Intermediate Math Films": designed to provide the groundwork for computational skills and reinforcement for classroom concepts. Intermediate-junior high.

"Math Patrol": basic math comprehension. Grades two through four.

"Music": introduction to musical concepts. Intermediate-junior.

"Calling Captain Consumer": introduction to the fundamental knowledge needed to make intelligent buying decisions. Intermediate-junior high.

"Survival Economics": aimed at developing consumer decision-making skills and introducing basic knowledge in the areas of money management, financial planning and consumer rights and responsibilities. Senior high.

"Trade Offs": one of the most important new instructional television series of this school year; uses dramatizations and special visuals to consider economic problems relevant to the daily life of a child and emphasizes basic economic principles. Grades four through six.

"All About You": introduction to the human body, physical growth and development and the importance of good health habits. Grades one and two.

"It's Your Move": designed to promote pedestrian and bicycle safety and to help students develop sound attitudes toward safety practices. Elementary.

"Industrial Arts for the 70's": designed to provide a supplementary technological environment and to offer current approaches to the teaching of industrial arts. Junior-senior high.

"A Child's Right to Read": designed to help teachers and administrators improve or maintain the quality of their reading programs.

"Teaching Children with Special Needs": an introductory training series for regular and special educators in the observation, identification and management of children with special needs.

There is a total of 115 ITV series that will be broadcast statewide for in-school use by Mississippi ETV this school year. This past school year, 797 Mississippi schools were equipped to receive educational television, making the service available to 363,000 Mississippi students.

Mississippi ETV's annual back-to-school preview special will preview the 25 new instructional series, as well as series returning from past seasons. The program will be broadcast this year at 7 p.m., Thursday, September 14. It will be rebroadcast at 12 noon, Sunday, September 17.

The theme for the program is "Television Is for Learning," a premise being promoted and encouraged by public television stations across the country, including Mississippi ETV, in an instructional television awareness effort.

Tax course materials available to schools

"Understanding Taxes," a special tax course to provide high school students with a basic understanding of the U.S. tax system, will be available again this year, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Now in its 26th year, the IRS-sponsored program is used in over 23,000 schools, reaching some 4 million students annually.

Teaching a non-traditional course such as "Understanding Taxes" is part of a trend to make school curriculums more relevant to everyday life, the IRS said.

Government studies and consumer interest have stressed the need for students to graduate from high school equipped with practical as well as academic skills.

The IRS said that "Understanding Taxes" prepares students for their tax responsibilities by covering topics as rights and responsibilities as taxpayers, the federal budget process, and the history of taxation in the United States.

The course is structured to give students a chance to apply what they learn in hypothetical tax situations, using actual tax forms.

IRS Publication 21, "Understanding Taxes," is the basic text for the course and copies are available to teachers free of charge as a public service. The text can be supplemented with two free loan 16mm color films:

"Money Talks," a 26-minute history of taxation and "Tax Rock," a 14 minute upbeat look at the IRS today.

Informational literature and an "Understanding Taxes" order form are mailed to high school principals and department heads in early fall each year. The IRS advised. Schools not contacted through the original mailing can request the material by contacting their nearest IRS office.

Long ago, a family death meant exhausting travel

H. V. Henley of Eureka, California, Hancock and Pearl River County native, now deceased, sent me this interesting account of travel 73 years ago:

"In 1905, my grandfather, Capt. James L. Seal, went with his wife from his home in the Yamacraw (now known as Pine Grove) Community to Carriere to get his mail. There was no such thing as a rural route back then. The people out in the Yamacraw, Cybur and Henleyfield areas went to Carriere, Picaune or Nicholson about once a month to get their mail.

Since going to the post office and returning home involved an all day trip with a horse and buggy, or on horseback, everyone tried to transact all their business in one trip to save having to make other tiresome all day journeys. (Captain Seal was a well known river boat captain when Pearl River was the gateway to this area before railroads came thru).

"While in the post-office in Carriere my grandfather had a stroke from which he never recovered. Since there was of course no hospital there, he was carried to the home of a friend, Leonard Penton, who had a barbershop in Carriere at that time.

"Leonard Penton was a man of sterling character and a charitable heart. He saw that grandfather was cared for and everything done that could be done for him until some of the family arrived.

"While today a family at Yamacraw could be notified in minutes by phone of the illness of a member in Carriere, back then the only way to get news of the serious plight of my grandfather to his family was to send someone on horseback.

"Some good soul, I don't remember who, volunteered to ride to Yamacraw and notify us of the condition of my grandfather. Others helped Mr. Penton to take care of him until members of the family got there. Buck and Joe Lumpkin, old friends of Capt. Seal, laid down their work and stayed constantly at his bedside until he passed away.

"Within a few hours time, all of the family were notified of the condition of grandfather except James A. Seal, a son, who was over in the western part of Washington Parish, La. Last news of him was from South of the Bogue Chitto River south of Franklinton, where he was making concrete memorials for many unmarked graves in the vicinity. The last news any member of the family had of him was staying at the home of a Mr. Seal, a relative who lived there.

"Where it would be a simple matter of maybe just minutes today at Picaune or Bogalusa, back then the only hope of getting the news to him was for someone to go on horseback and hunt him up. I was at that time 17 years old, and of course, anxious to help in any way I could. I volunteered to go and try to find Uncle Jim.

"Upon hearing of the serious condition of my grandfather, I had hurried to Carriere. My grandfather had a good horse, but no saddle. I borrowed a saddle and set out about 3 o'clock in the afternoon to hunt Uncle Jim, hoping to get to Pool's Bluff ferry before dark. When I got to old river I found the swamp so flooded that it could not be crossed by a horse with a rider.

"At this point fortune favored me. I met a Mr. Jarrell (I never did find out his first name) who told me to go back to Levi Holliman's place and leave my horse there, but to be back by daybreak and that he would take me across the flooded swamp and the river in his pirogue.

"This good man, named Jarrell, was waiting for me at daybreak, as he said he would be. After more than an hour of steady rowing, he landed me on high ground on the Louisiana side of the river. There was no bridge anywhere across Pearl River back then.

"After walking a short distance on the Louisiana side of the river I met a man in a buggy pulled by a mule. I stopped him and told him of my errand, with the hope that he could give me information about Uncle Jim. While he did not know Uncle Jim, he did know a Mr. Seal who lived in the area south of Franklinton. "This man with the mule and buggy was most sympathetic and volunteered to take me in his buggy to the home of Mr. Seal, a distance of some 20 miles or more. We went by his nearby home where he fed the mule and the two of us ate a hearty meal.

"We were soon on our way to the place at which I had heard Uncle Jim was staying. The mule proved to be a good traveler and had good wind. We made fast time, arriving at the Mr. Seal place about 4 p.m. We found that Uncle Jim was in fact boarding there and was momentarily expected. Sure enough, he came within a short time. I told him of his father's condition.

"Uncle Jim borrowed a pirogue from Mr. Seal and took off down Bogue Chitto river a little before sunset. The stream was up and the current swift. He made good time until dark, when it became necessary to slow down to prevent running into unseen obstructions and maybe overturning.

"It was 20 to 25 miles in a direct line from where Mr. Seal lived to Pearl River, but because of the meanderings of the river, it was much further. Through a bayou he reached Pearl River before daylight and landed within a short time at Walkiah Bluff, which was about 1 mile from his home.

"Uncle Jim hurried home. His wife hastily prepared his breakfast while he went out and fed his horse in preparation for the 10 or 12 mile trip to Carriere. While his horse was eating his wife was cooking breakfast, he lay down on the bed to snatch a little rest after his strenuous and exhausting all night trip down the two rivers to Walkiah.

"Weary though he was, he changed from his working clothes to what in those days we called Sunday clothes. He was soon on his way to Carriere on his fresh horse. He arrived before his father died, though Capt. Seal was in such condition that he could not speak to him.

"Along with Uncle Jim, my friend with the mule and buggy and myself all ate an early supper at the home of Mr. Seal before leaving. About the same time that Uncle Jim left going down the river, we started back in the buggy for Pool's Bluff. It was way into the night when we got to this man's house. I went to bed there and slept until day light.

"My host, up before day, had me in his buggy and on the way to the ferry by daybreak. He was a wonderful man. I count the friendliness, the solicitude, and the thoughtfulness of everyone in our family's time of bereavement among the wonderful experiences of my life.

"Help, so freely given by everyone, was not at an end when I got out of the buggy at Pool's Bluff. The ferryman, knowing my errand, went out of his way - I'll say went all the way - to be of help to me and to hasten my return home.

"Since the water was too high to operate the ferry, he took his pirogue and carried me across the turbulent river, on across the wide swamp and landed me on the pine clad hills just west of Henleyfield.

He made no charge for ferrying me across, even when I insisted on paying him. I walked on to Mr. Hollan's place, saddled my grandfather's fine saddle horse and sped on back to Carriere. When I got there my grandfather had passed away.

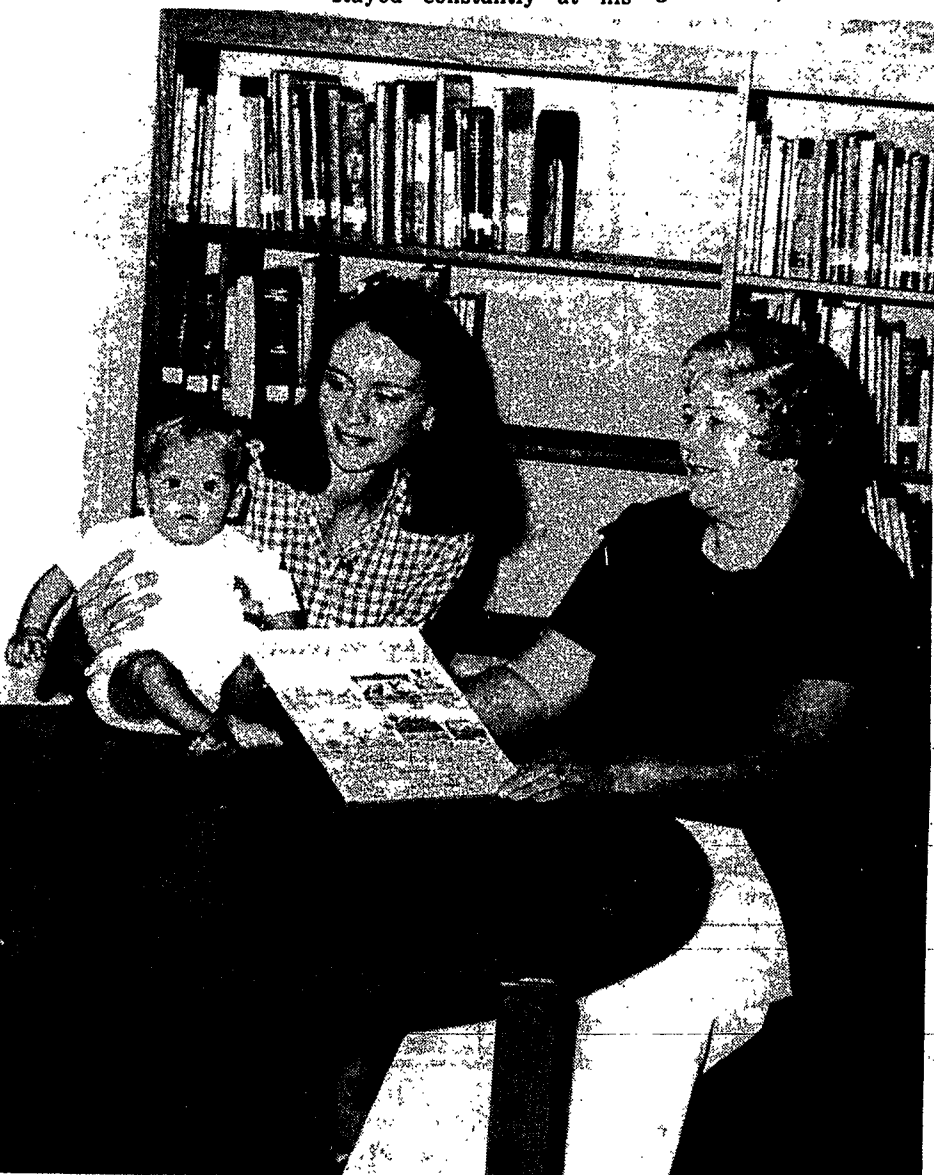

"The body was cared for and laid out by big hearted, unselfish and accommodating friends in Carriere. There was no such thing as a funeral hearse, or motor vehicle to transport the body back to Pine Grove for burial, but there were generous, sympathetic neighbors who brought over a wagon early next morning to carry the body to the Pine Grove Church for the funeral. There was a procession of friends and relatives from Carriere to Pine Grove church.

"That is how it was in the old days - no bridge across the Pearl River, no phones, no cars for quick transportation, no hospital to which to carry the sick, not even a doctor available in Carriere at that time, no good roads - just good and wonderful people who denied themselves to accommodate others.

"That is the end of the well told story by Mr. Henley. I repeat what I have said many times in the years that I have been telling these old stories: Without knowing conditions right here where we live, just a short time ago, how can we appreciate the wonderful advantages we have now? I think that history is the most important of all subjects, and that our own local history is most important of all.

Striped bass expert gets GCRL promotion

Dr. Thomas D. McIlwain is to be assistant director for fisheries research and management at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory of Ocean Springs, according to Dr. Harold D. Howse, director.

McIlwain's recommendation was approved by the Board of Trustees of the Institutions of Higher Learning this month. He was named acting assistant director in July, succeeding J.Y. Christmas Jr., senior fishery biologist, who reached the age of retirement for administrative personnel.

McIlwain holds a doctor of philosophy degree in zoology from the University of Southern Mississippi. He previously earned a master's degree and a bachelor's degree in zoology from Southern. As an undergraduate, he completed one year of study at Mississippi State University.

After teaching science for a short time at St. Martin High School, McIlwain joined the GCRL staff in 1966 as a marine biologist. He has worked on nine different research projects pertaining to fishery resources of the coastal waters and since 1968 has headed the GCRL Anadromous Fishes Section. McIlwain's primary research interest is the striped bass, Morone saxatilis, a popular sportfish. He has been the principal investigator for several projects to study the environmental requirements and to experimentally rear and stock striped bass into coastal streams to restore local populations.

At present, McIlwain is assisting with the development of "A Proposed Mississippi Marine Fishery Management Plan," for the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission.

The native of Pascagoula is married to the former Janet Chapman and they have a daughter, Stacey, 8 years old. The family resides at 2005 Kensington Dr., Ocean Springs. A past commodore of the O.S. Yacht Club, McIlwain is on the Harbor Commission and is a deacon in First Presbyterian Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie J. Penton III of Waveland, announce the birth of their second child and second son, Jeremy Scott, August 31 at East Jefferson General Hospital, Metairie, La. He weighed eight pounds, nine ounces.

Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Horace Tyner of Waveland; Mrs. Eloise Saucier, Waveland, is the paternal great-grandmother.

Necaise Crossing 4-H'ers attend conference

Imelda Ladner, Kim Ladner, Carlos Cuevas, Tammy Buchanan and Mrs. Viretta Ladner from the Necaise Crossing 4-H Club, and Bill Goodwin, 4-H Youth Agent were among the 350 youth, adult leaders and Extension personnel who attended the sixth annual 4-H Community Pride Conference in Natchez August 8 and 9.

Four-H Community Pride is sponsored by the Chevron U.S.A., Inc., and conducted by the 4-H Youth Development Department, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service (MCES). The theme for this year's conference was "4-H Freedom To Be."

During the Conference, outstanding 4-H clubs were recognized for their accomplishments in community improvements. Participants also shared ideas about meaningful ways to improve their local communities.

Conference highlights included a presentation on Natchez by Ronald Miller of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History; tours of the Grand Village of the Natchez Indians; Jefferson College; other historic sites; and the annual awards program.

Amite dormitory is new 'Historic Place'

The Bethany Institute Female Dormitory and site, all that remain of Bethany Institute boarding school in Amite County, dating from the second half of the 19th century, has been entered in the National Register of Historic Places, according to Elbert R. Hilliard, director of the Department of Archives and History. Hilliard was notified of the new entry by the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service, Department of the Interior.

USM arts Center series to feature opera, jazz

The Art Center Series presented by the College of Fine Arts at the University of Southern Mississippi will feature five performances, beginning Oct. 26.

USM initiates semester system for 78-79 term

Enrollment at the University of Southern Mississippi for its first fall term under the semester system appears unaffected by the change, university officials report.

"As far as applications go, we have a good many more than we had this time last year," said Director of Admissions Clint Conerly, "so we should have a good year."

Apparently the change from the quarter to the semester system, which drew some protest earlier from students, is not affecting the enrollment outcome, he added.

Students polled earlier argued the number of courses they could take would be cut by the change while the majority of the university faculty voiced approval of the change.

Faculty felt students were being short-changed by the quarter system by not allowing enough time for study and the acquiring of skills required of future job success.

Information regarding season tickets, which are $15 for adults and $5 for students, is available from the Arts Center Series at USM Southern Station Box 31, Hattiesburg, 39401.

Bill Evans and his Company of Dancers will open the series on Oct. 26, with all performances scheduled for Thursdays at 8 p.m. except the last performance on a Monday.

Tchaikovsky's "Nutcracker Ballet" fully staged with the Department of Theatre Arts at USM and the University Symphony Orchestra, is scheduled for Dec. 7.

Ruth Slenczynska, guest artist pianist with the University Symphony Orchestra, has been signed to perform Feb. 1, 1979.

An opera theatre production with the Department of Theatre Arts and the Department of Music is scheduled for April 5, 1979.

The closing performance will feature the Ronnie Kole Trio performing with the University Symphonic Wing Ensemble on April 23.

Old Ladies Home holds fund drive

Briefs

CYCLE INJURIES

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration estimates the number of motorcyclists injured annually at more than 350,000.

CYCLE DEATHS

Deaths involving motorcycle accidents reached a record 4,082 in 1977 following the repeal of helmet laws in 22 states, the U.S. Department of Transportation reports. In 1976, there were 3,312 motorcycle related highway deaths. During that same period motorcycle registrations increased only one percent.

The Old Ladies Home located in Jackson is having an annual fund drive in August.

The continued maintenance of the Home depends upon the generosity of the citizens of Mississippi a spokesman said. Established in 1902 and operated by a board of managers, this Home serves elderly ladies who have no family able to care for them or who do not have sufficient means of support.

Contributions may be sent to the Old Ladies Home, 2902 West Capitol Street, Jackson, 39209.

Mississippi Farm Bureau Federation ENFORCING NEW POSTED LAW

With Mississippi's dove, deer, quail and other hunting seasons rapidly approaching, Mississippi landowners and sportsmen soon are to come to grips with law enforcement provisions of the new posted law passed by the 1978 legislature.

Under provisions of the new law, as with the old, the burden of law enforcement still is largely on the shoulders of the landowner - but with a new provision for "permission slips" in or not in the possession of trespassers, it will be a bit easier for landowners to bring about arrests and convictions on trespassing charges.

Trespassing is a misdemeanor crime in Mississippi punishable by a fine not exceeding $250 - and may be charged against a violator when the land is legally posted and a violator is caught on such property without possessing a written permission slip from the owner or lessee.

This column will not deal with what constitutes "posted land" as this has been described in this column previously and space does not permit a rehash. The purpose of this article is to acquaint landowners, sportsmen and others of how to deal with the matter from a practical and legal standpoint.

H. T. Richardson, chief of law enforcement of the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission, states that conservation officers (game wardens) cannot arrest a citizen on trespassing charges without a warrant initiated by the landowner. A warrant, or affidavit, is signed by a property owner preferring charges in his local Justice Court (justice of the peace). Then the conservation officer may make an arrest. Next, the landowner must testify in court adequately to convince the judge that the accused violated the posted property rights before a person may be convicted of the offense and fined.

The new law does not mean necessarily that the state is stepping up law enforcement. Richardson reported that enactment of the law did not beef up the law enforcement force at all, and added that there are too many landowners for conservation officers to park and guard an individual's property when the officers' responsibilities are to all property owners and citizens.

Hinds County Sheriff J. D. McAdory said his law enforcement agency is limited even further in that a private property owner must sign an affidavit with the local Justice Court before a county deputy may enter private property for the purpose of making an arrest.

These legalities aside, the landowner remains the person who must take first and middle action before he can bring the shortening arm of the law down on trespassers on posted properties.

His responsibilities are first to catch the trespasser. Some advisory caution is in order here because suddenly discovered trespassers may be about the business of a more serious crime than hunting or fishing or just poking around on posted land.

A felony crime may be in progress such as burglary, robbery, rustling, etc. and a property owner should proceed with due caution because of the possibility that felonious criminals may be armed and disposed to a shoot out to keep from being caught in a felony.

Assuming that the trespasser is not dangerous, the landowner must take whatever action is necessary to identify the party sufficient for court prosecution. If you and the trespasser know each other, this is relatively easy. If not, you must establish his identity either by getting him to give you his or their names or observe them well enough to positively identify them in court. If they can be further associated with auto or truck license tag numbers, this makes for strong evidence in court.

The best solution to the problem obviously is for sportsmen or others who take to the country for outdoor recreation to always get permission before entering private property - and have those permission slips with them if and when they are requested.

Grocery stores disqualified for food stamp violation

Because of violations, 33 Mississippi grocery stores were disqualified from the federal food stamp program during the first six months of 1978, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reports.

"Considering the fact that there are 6,839 grocery stores in the state authorized to accept food stamps, it is obvious that the vast majority of Mississippi retail food dealers are complying with the food stamp regulations," observed Edward W. Davidson, Southeast regional director of the food stamp program.

Most of the 33 disqualifications, Davidson said, resulted from stores selling ineligible items for food coupons or discounting food stamps for cash. Food stamps, by law, can be used only to buy food. The only exceptions, he continued, are garden seed and plants to be used to produce food.

Davidson explained that grocers, when applying for authorization to accept food stamps, agree in advance to abide by the rules and regulations. Violators are subject to criminal charges as well as disqualification from the program.

Currently, there are 311,152 people in Mississippi on the food stamp program. Each month they are issued around $13 million in food coupons. Of this amount, $8.6 million is in bonus stamps - an average of about $28 per person.

HAWKS PRE-SEASON ACTION - Coach Irvin Farve's Hancock North Central Hawks had a "Meet-The-Fans" night and pre-season scrimmage Friday. Assisting coach Farve will be Thomas White, Joe Shane and Rocky Gaudin. Gaudin in his first season as an assistant coach, previously played for the Hawks. (Staff photo - Randy Ponder)

Nine from Hancock on Wildcats pre-season roster

By RICH ADAMS
Five freshmen and four returning sophomores from Hancock County are working out with the Pearl River Junior College Wildcats football team.

Freshmen listed on this year's roster are Dentist Nelson, running back; Scott Thomas, tight end; defensive end; Pat Necaise, defensive back; Kent Malley, center; and Mark Ladner, tight end. Sophomores returning to the squad are Louis Dunklin and Tracy Klein, both wide receivers; Martin Hoda, safety; and Charles Piazza, left guard.

Last year, Wildcat head coach J. C. Arban said, "We'll win more than we lose and we have the horses to go all the way again."

He led his squad to the south division crown and the overall state championship.

This year, however, Arban is slightly less exuberant. "We should have a pretty fair football team, barring injuries and if our freshmen show up as expected," Arban said.

"But we have to contend with a slow backfield, an inexperienced secondary and no depth in the line," he added.

The Wildcats open the 1978 season Saturday, September 2 in Poplarville against Northeast.

The head coach's reactions are understandable. Last year's 6-4 record was disappointing, even though most teams would be happy with such a finishing mark.

Pearl River College is different. Anything less than a south crown and state championship is not good. This attitude and the long running winning tradition at PRC are what makes Arban's defensive comments seem less than straight.

It's true the Wildcats lack the speed of years past, and it's correct that depth in the trenches may cause problems during the 10 game span, but you can still bet the Wildcats will field an excellent football team when they open Saturday, Sept. 2 at home against Northeast.

To back up this supposition is the fact that the PRC team may have one of the best starting lines in the past few years and the signal calling spot of the team can be filled adequately by anyone of seven players.

"We can start the offensive and defensive units with all sophomores," Arban said, "but that does not mean they are all returning lettermen."

On the offensive line starters Eddie Forbes (259), Sandy Hook, and Donald Fortenberry (265), Columbia will anchor the offensive tackle slots. David Graham (210), Purvis, will return at the right guard, while Charles Piazza (224), Bay St. Louis, has been moved from linebacker to left guard.

At center is Philip Pails (230), Bassfield, who did not play last year. However, he was on the squad a couple of years ago.

Little Scott Arban (140), Poplarville, will start again at wide receiver, teaming up with tight end Andy Thames perienced and may have the only starting freshman on the team. Anthony Williams (180), from Hattiesburg, is being counted on heavily to fill the left corner back position.

(198), of Hattiesburg. Both played these positions last season. Billy Amacker (190), Poplarville, has the nod to start at receiver and monster on defense.

In the backfield, sophomore quarterback Joey Howard (180), of Poplarville, will have Jeff January (176), Petal, at fullback and Henry Smith (155), Poplarville, at tailback. Howard started several ballgames last season and has a lot of playing experience.

January played defense and alternated at the fullback position on several occasions. Smith, the fastest player on the squad, is the only real break-away threat of the Cats. Sophomore David Wyman, of Morgan City, La., will have the edge on the other freshman quarterbacks if something should happen to Howard. Wyman has some playing time but not near as much as the Poplarville signal caller.

Gregg Pittman, another sophomore quarterback, has been moved to the defensive secondary but he can run the team if necessary. Freshman Richard Foley, New Orleans, Andy Coleman, Mobile, and Joseph Simon of Petal were all outstanding quarterbacks in high school. According to Arban, it will be a real battle between the group for the quarterback post.

The Pearl River defensive secondary is very inex-

Last year he was playing for the Blair Tigers:

Gregg Pittman, a quarterback, has moved to the starting right corner back spot and Kent Blankenship, a sophomore (170) from Hattiesburg, has the edge on safety. Robert May (190), Poplarville, and Werner Pierce (190), Petal, are the linebackers while Randy Russell of Picaune is holding down the nose guard spot.

At defensive tackles are Charles Armstrong (236), linebacker from Prentiss and Ronald Phillips (205), from Columbia. Phillips sat out last year but he did play on the Wildcats championship team two years ago.

The defensive end positions will have newcomers Phillip Lee of Lumberton and David Cox of Lumberton, both have experience but not at the end positions. Blankenship will handle the punting chores and Phillip Lee the kicking duties. There are several more players that can kick for the Wildcats.

The Wildcats have a good schedule. Jones and Perk, the Cats' keenest rivals are both at home. And the first three contests are considered to be against the leagues weaker clubs.

Feathers to fly Friday night when Hawks, Eagles clash in season opener

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Hawks of Hancock North Central will kick-off the football season for area teams Friday night in a clash against the Eagles of St. John.

The whistle signaling the opening of the season is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the Hawk stadium at Hancock North Central.

"We lost 12 seniors from our 1977 team and they all played regularly. I really don't know how good some of the younger players are until they get into action Friday night," commented head coach Irvin Farve Tuesday.

Farve added, "We lost some very good players, and we have some young players filling in some important positions. Of course, my problems are the same as any other coach would have before the opening game."

The Hawks had their best season ever with a 10-0 regular season in 1977. The Hawks lost two very close games in bowl bids.

The Hawks reportedly set four school records in football attendance last season. Work is now underway on an addition of bleachers for 500 more seats. The fence is being straightened around the field with a new fence being installed behind the visitor bleachers.

Coach Farve said the new fence behind the bleachers will give the stadium a chain link fence around the whole football complex.

The home and visitor dressing rooms are being expanded and a new concession stand is being constructed. These projects are all being done through the cooperation of the school administration and school board.

Even though coach Farve, said the 1977 Hawks were the best overall team he ever coached, his 1978 squad has made a lot of improvements in every phase of the game."

In speaking about pre-season, coach Farve, added, "It is hard to get 100 percent of the players twice a day in every practice because of the heat. We have had good practice sessions and some not so good. We are pleased with our players, and will have them as ready as we possibly can for Friday."

Four from the 1977 Hawk squad signed with Pearl River Junior College - Dentist Nelson, halfback; Kent Malley, center and defensive end; Mark Ladner, tight end; and Pat Necaise, half back. Coach Farve said, "I'm very proud of those who are going to Pearl River and of all the 1978 seniors."

Vincent Adams, veteran quarterback, will be the signal caller this season. On the offensive line, Robert Shiyon and Richard Storey will be back at tackles.

Farve will be depending on John Hamilton, Gene Breazeale and David Clark from last season's Hawks to help fill some of the gaps left by graduation.

"Our playing field is in the best of shape, probably the best in the area," commented coach Farve.

"In 1977, we received very good support from the students, parents and friends of the school. I hope the fans will continue to give their support to the athletic activities at Hancock North Central," Coach Farve said.

MSU-NSTL Research Center offers evening courses

The Mississippi State University Research Center at NSTL is conducting registration Monday through Wednesday for special evening classes to be conducted this fall at the center if enough students register.

Center spokesman Wade Stevens said the Center intends to offer 14 different courses on various evenings from 5 to 8 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays.

Classes will continue for 16 weeks, beginning Sept. 5.

Neither pre-registration nor prior attendance at MSU is required. Registration will be held from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. next week.

"Credit for courses taken at MSU-NSTL is recorded at the MSU main campus and may be transferred or applied to degrees at other institutions," Stevens said.

For credits to be applicable to a MSU degree program, transcripts are required at the MSU-NSTL Center, he added.

MAE plans open house at office

Officers and board of directors of Mississippi Association of Educators have issued a public invitation to an open house at the association's new state headquarters building, 775 North State Street, Jackson.

The event will be from 3 until 5 p.m. on Sunday.

"We encourage all those interested in education and this association to visit us during this open house," said John E. Ashley, executive secretary of MAE.

"We are proud of our new building and we want to share it with you," he added.

Dr. Stewart is featured speaker for Mental Health

Dr. G. Kinsey Stewart, president of the National Council of Community Mental Health Centers, will be the featured speaker at an annual membership luncheon of the Mississippi Mental Health Association Thursday.

Mrs. Gertrude Reid, association president, said this year's statewide membership meeting will be held at the Holiday Inn Medical Center in Jackson.

The day-long event will focus on active volunteerism and community mental health services in Mississippi. A special workshop on legislative advocacy for mental health will be held following the luncheon.

Dr. Stewart resides in Gulfport and serves as Director of the Gulf Coast Community Mental Health Center.

DSU-Cleveland opens fall semester Monday

Delta State University will open its doors for the 1978 fall semester with registration on Monday and Tuesday, August 28-29. Classes begin at 8 a.m. Wednesday, August 30.

Enrollment is expected to reach near the 3,000 mark again this fall, according to Dr. Mac G. McRaney, Dean of Admissions and Records.

"We pre-registered about 1,400 students," McRaney said. "Pre-registration figures usually indicate approximately 40 per cent of students who will enroll for the semester."

McRaney said DSU officials expect an increase in new students, those registering for the first time at Delta State, including a large number of junior college transfers.

MUW schedules fall registration

Registration for fall semester at Mississippi University for Women will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 29 and 30 with classes beginning Thursday, Aug. 31. Graduate students register Tuesday Aug. 29 at 12:30 in Parkinson Hall, with seniors and juniors following.

Registration begins Wednesday, Aug. 30, at 8 a.m. with juniors and sophomores.

Freshmen enroll from 10 a.m. until noon and from 1 to 3 p.m.

Registration for the W's Evening College will be from 7 to 8 p.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 29, in Parkinson Hall.

In addition, students may enroll for Weekend College Aug. 29 at 7 p.m. in Parkinson Hall Auditorium. Weekend College classes are held Friday evenings and on Saturdays for those unable to attend college during the week. Mini-Course registration will be held Tuesday, Sept. 5, from 7 to 8:30 p.m. in the Hogarth Student Center.

Information concerning registration for day classes may be obtained by contacting the registrar's office.

Evening College and Mini-Course information may be obtained by contacting the continuing education department at 327-6211.

Students wishing more information about Weekend College may contact director Joe Portera.

New undergraduate students who have not yet applied for admission should contact the admission's office at 328-5891.

New graduate students should contact the M.U.W. Graduate School at 328-5617 for application forms and needed information.

Students will begin arriving on campus, Sunday, August 27, when residence halls open at 2 p.m. An orientation meeting for parents will be held at 3:30 p.m. in Broom Auditorium on campus.

DSU President and Mrs. Kent Wyatt will host a reception for all new students and parents, Sunday, at 4:30 p.m. in The Union.

Freshmen will register from 1-4 p.m. on August 28, followed by night class registration from 5:30-8 p.m. A freshmen orientation session will be held beginning at 8:30 a.m., August 28 with the Nelson Denny Reading Test in Room 105 of Caylor Hall.

Tuesday's registration schedule includes seniors whose last names begin with the letters (N-Z) from 8-9 a.m. and (A-M), 9-10 a.m.; juniors (N-Z), 10-11 a.m. and (A-M), 11-12; sophomores (N-Z), 1-2 p.m. and (A-M), 2-3 p.m.

Graduate students may register at any time on Tuesday, August 29.

Auditions for "Renaissance", Delta State's touring vocal and instrumental group will be held at 6 p.m., August 28 in Zeigel Auditorium.

Auditions for the Jazz-Lab band will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m., Tuesday, August 29 in room 150 of Zeigel Hall for all interested full-time students.

Tryouts for the DSU marching band will be all day Monday and Tuesday for persons not already in the band.

The Delta State University Statesmen will kick off their football season on the road, Saturday, Sept. 9, at East Texas State University in Commerce, Texas. The first home game is Sept. 16 when the Statesmen meet the Southeast Missouri Indians at 7:30 p.m.

Rush activities for Delta State's four social sororities will be held Aug. 22-25. About 75 women will participate as rushers at parties given by Kappa Delta, Delta Delta Delta, Phi Mu and Delta Sigma Theta sororities.

Fraternity rush will be held Sept. 4-8. The five social fraternities at DSU are Kappa Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Iota Kappa Chi.

The Cleveland-Bolivar County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring "Salute to Delta State University" Sept. 11-16. Many activities are planned on the campus by chamber officials.

Four instructors added to OLA staff

Our Lady's Academy in Bay St. Louis opened this week, welcoming students ranging from grades seven through 12 as well as 15 instructors.

The Academy's 11 returning instructors are Michael J. Ryan, principal; Mrs. Bridget Cave, business education; Mrs. Dee Cichon, art, science, and social studies; Miss Susan Ferry, health-physical education and driver education; Mrs. Anna Gayaut, mathematics; Miss Pat LaFontaine, social studies; Sister Rose Marie Becker C.S.J., guidance counselor; Mrs. Mary Ann Pate, English, speech, and yearbook; Mrs. Mary Lou Koch, reading and English, drama, and social studies; Mrs. Mary Alice Benvenuti, English, psychology and social studies; Mrs. Vicki Staehle, secretary; Miss Sarah Thompson, home economics.

New instructors at the Academy include Miss Cathy Griffon of Pass Christian, science. Miss Griffon is a 1974 graduate of University of Southern Mississippi with a major in photo journalism and a minor in general science.

She is a member of Kappa Epsilon honor fraternity of Ole Miss, Phi Theta Kappa of Perkinson Junior College, and Kappa Delta Pi, a teaching fraternity at Southern University. Miss Griffon will assist the journalism and yearbook staffs in the area of photography.

Water plan holds promise for lake

Eagle Lake, the famous oxbow lake above Vicksburg once known for its excellent fishing, may eventually regain some of its fame if a water level management plan devised by conservation officials succeeds.

The lake has been plagued by pesticides in recent years entering the water from nearby Steele Bayou through Muddy Bayou. Fishermen have complained about the poor fishing and the amount of non-game fish like gar and shad which are of little importance to sport fishermen. "A recently completed water control structure on Muddy Bayou by the Corps of Engineers regulates the waterflow from Steele Bayou into Eagle Lake and limits the amounts of pesticides entering the lake," Game and Fish Director Joe Stone said.

"As it stands now, the plan which was recommended in 1969 and finally adopted in 1977 by the Game and Fish Commission and other agencies calls for raising the water level in the lake to 76.9 feet mean sea level between January 1 and June 15 each year when water quality and stages in Steele Bayou permits," Stone explained.

The water level plan was agreed upon by the Game and Mrs. Mary Niolet, Pass Christian, has been added to the mathematics department. She was an honor graduate at Mississippi State University, named on the president's list and the dean's list. She belongs to Kappa Delta Pi honorary fraternity, and has taught math for three and a half years prior to joining the faculty of Our Lady's Academy.

James Mueller of Pass Christian is new religion instructor. After attending Jefferson Davis Junior College in Gulfport, Mueller continued his education and graduated from St. Joseph Seminary College in St. Benedict, Louisiana, with a major in religion. Mueller has played an active part in providing liturgical guitar music at St. Thomas Church in Long Beach and will be working in this same area with O. L. A. students.

Brother Roger Latosynski S. V. D., the eldest of five children, was born and reared in Chesaning, Michigan. He graduated May 15, 1978 from Loyola University in New Orleans with an education major and a business minor. He is a member of the Society of the Divine Word, and assistant Dean of Students at St. Augustine Seminary in Bay St. Louis. At Our Lady's Academy Brother Roger will teach in the business department.

Fish Commission, the Corps of Engineers, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission and interested local citizens.

According to Stone, beginning about June 15 each year and not later than July 15, the gates will be opened to lower Eagle Lake to 75 feet, the elevation of the old Muddy Bayou structure. If studies underway now indicate that the fisheries resources would be improved by lowering the lake further, the gates would be opened after September 1 to lower the lake level to a possible 70 feet mean sea level. This would not necessarily be done every year, officials stressed.

Commission biologists have suggested that lowering the lake's water level may be one tool in helping restore a higher quality of fishing. Less water would mean exposing the lake's bottom to additional sunlight which aids in breaking down pesticides trapped in mud and silt.

Just completed fish population and water quality studies of the lake by the Game and Fish Commission are being analyzed by fisheries biologists to determine if the lake should be lowered this year. One agency spokesman said that while the lower water level may inconvenience cabin owners and local citizens at times, "this work may have to be done to improve the fishing on Eagle Lake."

Texas, Louisiana residents seek Hancock family ties

By MARGARET GIBBENS
Historical Society Historian

Texas and Florida residents are seeking information regarding family ties in Bay St. Louis.

Mrs. Bob Spain, 1700 Mustang, Humble, Texas, 77339 (Phone 713-358-144) would like information about Jordan Smith; Frances Angeline Whitfield, died 1851, buried Turtleskin Cemetery; Robert Brown; Jane Davis (Brown); Thomas Jeremiah Stockstill; Harriet Virginia Warden; William Henry Varnado; and Frankie Varnado.

Any information of related lines would be appreciated and exchange for research. Mr. Harry T. Platt Jr. is researching Halmaida Louise Bremond (not Bernond) who died Bay St. Louis, January 6, 1862. She married John Warren Platt. Their children were Mary, Julia, Louise or Louis, John W., Joseph B., Adele, Ernest, Alma B.

They were later wards of George W. Ellis. Any person having related lines write Harry T. Platt Jr. in care of Hancock County Historical Society, Box 1340, Bay St. Louis, 39520.

Mr. Platt has traced his family to 1400s and has stated he will forward copy to the Historical Society for Platt family research.

The Hancock County Historical Society has been collecting and cataloging records of county importance for three years. Our file system is indexed by surname and subjects. Any person wishing to use the library may contact Margaret M. Gibbens, Historian, 487-3907, or submit any records or information for preservation.

Collecting and preserving records is to record local history and includes study and development of the community, as well as group attempts to preserve. Individuals of the area as well can submit material for the historical documentation of Hancock County.

Researchers and historians, either individually or with groups, societies and institutions search published materials related to property, its development, use, and occupants. Footnotes in books can lead to additional sources.

News stories; advertisements from lost property and items of sale; reports on marriage, deaths, business ventures, or social activities, all may provide clues of the greatest importance as well as bibliographies, historical sources, and museums.

Paraphernalia related to the period under study will include books, particularly architectural and carpenters' handbooks; trade catalogues, and business directories which were available to the owners, designers and builders for research of age and building restorations.

Even tax laws and building codes governing construction, statutes passed by governing bodies are valuable. Sociological data related to the period and region often provide information as to the availability of materials, and local history. Techniques for historical research must depend on the scope of the project. Without detailed records a worker is handicapped. He must prove, reveal or check his work.

The research library should contain documents particularly important for the historian to avoid dogmatic conclusions. Preliminary reports should be restricted to facts until all investigations have been made.

The primary sources are most important for research, so look in your attics; trunks; old bibles; make them a

Mrs. Gladys Niglaszo and Mrs. Pauline Reid were weekend guests of Mrs. Ann Dours in Kennar, La. While there they attended a birthday party for Mrs. Niglaszo's niece and nephew Denise and Rhett Johnston.

Mrs. Be Favre had as guests last Wednesday her son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Shawn Favre and children Brandy and Eddie of Alexandria, La., and on Thursday her daughter Mrs. BeBe Ward and daughter Mrs. Benjamin Schreiber and son Benji of Biloxi, and Mrs. Ollie Ward of Jacksonville, Fla.

Mr. and Mrs. A.R. Jenkins of Waveland had as guests last week their grandson Gil Langley and Miss Larnae Willingham of Decatur, Ala. While here they joined in the celebration of his grandparents' 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Cora Harmon of Corpus Christi, Tex., is visiting her son-in-law and daughter Major and Mrs. Byron P. Favre.

AIB Class fall registration set

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Chapter of the American Institute of Banking held its regular monthly board meeting at the First National Bank of the South in Ocean Springs.

Reports were given by M. J. Landry, People Bank of Biloxi and Tom Bourdin and Warren Brewer, Hancock Bank of Gulfport on the District Five leadership conference they attended in Savannah, Ga., August 10, 11 and 12.

Keynote speaker for the conference was Mrs. Bette B. Anderson, the undersecretary of the treasury. She had just returned from the Summit Meeting in Germany where she had interviewed and talked with many German housewives.

She stated that they were amazed at the lack of concern by most American housewives in regard to conserving energy.

Mrs. Anderson also reported that this administration has government spending down and employment down. She stated that the largest problem facing Americans today is inflation.

Landry, president of the chapter, announced that registration for the fall AIB classes will be held at the St. John's High School in Gulfport today, at 7 p.m.

Classes being offered are "Principles of Bank Operation," "Accounting I," "Analyzing Financial Statements," and "Installment Credit."

Hancock County Library System's new offerings

The following books may be obtained through any Library of the Hancock county Library System:

YANKEE FROM GEORGIA by William Lee Miller. Neither a campaign chronicle nor political biography, this book is rather an attempt to get at something else - the elusive but terribly important essence of the man who leads America.

MY ENEMY THE QUEEN by Victoria Holt. A novel about the only woman who ever challenged Elizabeth I, by one of the world's most successful writers.

SOSHA by Isaac Bashevis Singer. Singer describes his new novel as "a story of a few unique characters in unique circumstances" - the background being the 1930's in Warsaw, the years of Hitler's rise to power.

THE COMPLETE BOOK OF SYMPTOMS & WHAT THEY CAN MEAN by Lawrence Galton. A layman's guide to more than 350 symptoms and the more than 440 diseases associated with them, interrelated to one another for quick convenient reference.

RAMESES II AND HIS TIME by Immanuel Velikovsky. Another volume in the AGES IN CHAOS series, by the author of WORLDS IN COLLISION and PEOPLES OF THE SEA. This book is a kind of detective story, in which the personae are real historical figures.

AIR FORCE ONE by Edwin Corley. A novel of terror aboard the President's plane, by the author of SIEGE and SARGASSO. THE MAURITIUS COMMAND by Patrick O'Brian. All the realities and problems of the old sailing ship navy, its splendors and its miseries, are brought before the reader in a tale that crackles with action and excitement.

Military Mention

Upon completion of this training, he will be assigned to Hahn, Germany.

Airman Langenacker is a 1976 graduate of Bay Senior High, Bay St. Louis.

SGT. A.A. SHEPPARD JR., Staff Sgt. Alphonse A. Shepard Jr., whose parents live at 455 Webster St., Bay St. Louis, recently completed the basic noncommissioned officer course at Fort Riley, Kan.

The four-week course, designed to improve military occupational skills, prepares the student to assume the duties of a squad section or crew leader.

Sheppard entered the Army in February 1976.

He attended Nationwide Business College, Jackson. The sergeant's wife, Minnie, is with him at the fort.

C.J. LANGENACKER

Everybody's a winner in Gulfview Softball League

The Gulfview Softball League closed out its summer season with an awards night at Gulfview Elementary field recently in which some 90 participants received trophies.

A total of eight teams participated in junior and senior league divisions.

Bourgeois Construction captured the senior title, with Ward's Well Works second and Kent and Sue's third.

Junior champions were the Parent-Teacher Club of Gulfview. Jerome's was second; Carmel's third; Hayward Spliers fourth and B&L Beemasters fifth.

Ole Miss cornerback 'excited about season'

University of Mississippi cornerback Jon Fabris is anxiously awaiting the opening of fall football drills at Ole Miss and is excited about the Rebels' season ahead.

"I'm anxious to get started," the 6-4, 198-pound junior said following a brief workout last week at Ole Miss.

"I know we have the potential to be a good team this season," he says, "and all the players can't wait for practice to start."

Fabris will start fall drills as strong safety after two seasons as the number one backup and part-time starter in the Rebel secondary.

Fabris started at free safety against Auburn, Georgia, South Carolina and LSU last season and alternated for the other seven games.

He led Ole Miss and tied in the Southeastern Conference in punt returns with 175 total yards. He will be the top returning punter in the SEC entering 1978.

In addition, Fabris recorded 33 tackles last year, 16 of them individual stops.

He earned a letter in his freshman season as a safety backup and member of the specialty teams.

Fabris intercepted two passes with the Rebel junior varsity in 1976, and returned a punt 60 yards for a TD.

"I just hope to get a starting position on the team," Fabris says. "That's my goal right now."

"After that I think everything else will fall into place," he added.

Challenging for a starting position shouldn't be much of a problem for Fabris, a standout during his high school days.

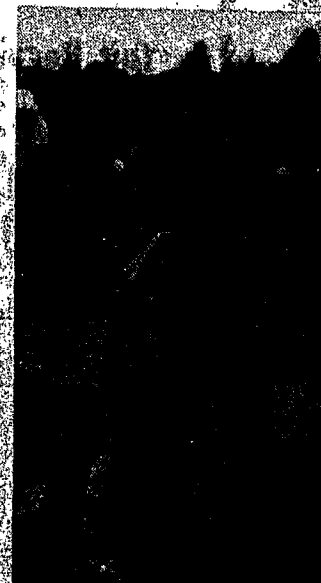

Fabris won four football letters at three different schools. He was a quarterback-safety at Starkville High School in 1972 and 1974 and wide receiver at Cedar Shoals High School in Athens, Ga. in 1973. He played at Fork Union, Va. Military Academy in 1975.

Fabris says the success of the Rebels will be determined from within the team.

"The players will determine their success from within," Fabris said. "We have to want to win bad enough and some leaders are going to have to emerge," he continued.

"I think these things are going to develop this year for Ole Miss."

"We're all honored to have the coaching staff that we have at Ole Miss," Fabris said. "We know they're going to help us and we plan to do our part in building a championship program at Ole Miss."

NAVY'S NEWEST SHIP—Forming a silhouette at dawn in the Gulf of Mexico, the multi-mission destroyer STUMP (DD-978) undergoes various shipboard tests during the successful Navy Acceptance Trials in preparation for the ship's commissioning into the Fleet yesterday at Ingalls in Pascagoula. The 7,800-ton, 563-foot Spruance-Class destroyer is named for Admiral Felix H. Stump, distinguished aviator and carrier division commander during World War II, and is the 16th of 30 destroyers designed and being built by Ingalls. The new destroyer, scheduled for duty with Surface Force Atlantic Fleet, will be commanded by Commander Carl Anderson of Bronx, New York.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

BY KIM DEDEAUX
Buccaneer was the setting this weekend for people from all walks of life who came together at Buccaneer to relax and enjoy themselves and become simply campers.

A friendly atmosphere is created when we join together in a number of different recreational activities.

The busy weekend began Friday with a refreshing walk along one of our park's two nature trails. Children gathered at the pool for a sure way to cool off and have fun while competing in a number of different pool races and games.

We held our usual story hour at 5 p.m. Other activities Friday included mural painting, jumprope contest and a movie.

Saturday started as usual with Kid's crafts. Camper and locals alike joined in the recreation to create their own paper airplanes.

Following the crafts session, we took our planes outside for a contest. Geoff Lamber, 10, of Houma, La., outdid
everyone, but Susan Aymami, 12, of New Orleans placed a strong second.

Saturday afternoon's ping pong tournament pitted some of the best ping pong players around. Don Fayard won first place and Keenan Kelsey won second. Don is the son of Mrs.
Annabelle Fayard of Waveland, and Keenan resides with Mrs. Lillian Maone of Metairie.

Karen Legouf of Bourg, La., is the weekend's shuffleboard champion. Mike Rodriguez of Slidell, La., placed second.
We couldn't think of a better way to end the day than a cool water volleyball game.

Sunday morning the congregation of First Baptist Church of Gulfport came together with some of the campers for an hour of worship.

Our pre-school campers enjoyed pool games, while older campers and locals played water basketball.

Female campers and locals gathered for a basket making class. We closed Sunday with a treat for the whole family, volleyball.

The pool has been closed for the season since lifeguards have returned to school.

Ladies exercise class from 7 to 8 p.m. Monday & Thursday.
Below is a list of the recreational activities which will be offered at the park this weekend.

Notes from Pearlington

By ONA McARTHUR
Happy Birthday Windi
Ritter, Todd Stone, Darlene Reynolds, Bruce Fricks,
Elaine Fraizer and Myrna Rae Ladner.

Congratulations to Miss Frickie and Mr. Kenny Walsh who were married at First Southern Baptist Church
Saturday. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Frickie.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Leech and family are living in their new trailer and report that life is almost normal again.

They wish to tell their friends that they appreciate the help received when their home was destroyed by fire.

A bridal shower for Miss Carol Sue Rayborn was held Saturday night at Cedar Drive Baptist Church.

Bay Waveland Yacht Club held its Lipton Team eliminations this past weekend.

The six top skippers for the summer's sailing were pitted against each other as well as six skippers from Pass Christian Yacht Club.

This Round Robin series allows for equal competition and a practice for the Sir Thomas Lipton Regatta, the Gulf Yachting Association's Championship, to be held over Labor Day weekend.

Of the six skippers sailing, four will go on the Lipton team. The results of the Round Robin are BWYC, first;
PCYC, second; Bubby Eagan overall first; Randy Santa Cruz, second, both of BWYC, and Ricky Adams, third, of PCYC.

The BWYC Lipton team will be Harry Chapman, Bubby Eagan, Marc Eagan and Randy Santa Cruz with alternates Rod Stieffel and Ed Turnipseed.

Lung Association sets meetings

The Mississippi Lung Association will hold four District Meetings for volunteer lung chapter leaders throughout the state, according to an announcement by Donald M. Dana Jr. of Long Beach, president of the Christmas Seal voluntary health organization.

Meetings have been scheduled in Tupelo, Tuesday, August 22; Grenada, Wednesday, August 23; Jackson, Thursday, August 24; and Hattiesburg, Tuesday, August 29.

"Volunteers for Life and Breath" is the theme of the four area workshops. Dana and Judson M. Alford Jr., executive director will be program moderators.

Planning sessions will feature educational material of the Mississippi Lung Association for direct citizen involvement in the crusade against emphysema, tuberculosis, asthma, bronchitis and other lung and respiratory diseases.

Special focus will also be on preventable accidents which endanger lung health such as choking on food and aspiration of objects by children and adults.

Announcements will be made concerning the 1978 Christmas Seal Campaign for funds to continue and expand patient services, public information, medical education and research programs to prevent and control lung diseases.

Information will be presented on special events and youth educational and fund raising activities.

Additionally,
"SUPERKIDS," the innovative field day sport event will be previewed.

"SUPERKIDS" gives elementary students an opportunity to participate in an athletic and anti-smoking educational program and to help fight lung disease in Mississippi.

Delegates at each district meeting will be volunteers representing area county lung chapters and special youth group representatives.

Brownbuilder Donna Tucker is working for you in Mississippi

Donna Tucker, from Moss Point, is a Mississippi Brownbuilder—one of the men and women of Brown & Root, Inc.—working for you in Mississippi.

Donna first signed on with Brown &
Root in 1975 and is a Pipefitter Helper.
A graduate of Moss Point High School where she was a member of the Spanish Club, Donna now lives in Escatawpa where she enjoys horseback riding, dancing and has two Doberman pinschers.

Mississippi Brownbuilders like Donna are working for you and thousands of your neighbors. She's helping to build the hardware, such as oil fields and power plants, which will help insure Mississippi's future growth and prosperity.

Because of Brown & Root's policy of hiring locally first, most of our Brownbuilders here are Mississippi natives or longtime residents. Many of them first joined Brown & Root at project personnel offices near their homes. And, Brown & Root hires and promotes solely on the basis of individual ability and merit. Anyone willing and qualified is eligible to work.
That way, local communities, counties and the state get maximum benefit from projects on which we work—hundreds of thousands of dollars in payrolls, purchases, savings and taxes.

Mississippi Brownbuilders and Brown & Root—working for you in Mississippi.

Hancock County's 1978 United Way fund drive is now in progress

$35,000 is needed, here's why:

INFORMATION ON AGENCIES SUPPORTED BY THE UNITED WAY OF HANCOCK COUNTY.

SENIOR CITIZEN PROGRAMS.

The purpose of our very fine center and staff is to assist all senior citizens with any problem they may have, and help them to live more independent lives in their own homes. Among the programs provided are: Recreation, Transportation, Arts and Crafts, Education, Travel, Friendly Visitation, Hot Meals and Information and Referral. Because of the assistance being given to our senior citizens, many lives have been enriched and changed.

RETIRED SENIOR VOLUNTEER PROGRAM (RSVP)

This very exciting and successful program channels the energy and experience of volunteers sixty years of age and older, into activities which contribute to the life of Hancock County. Two hundred and eighty five volunteers are now supplying a variety of urgently needed services in our community.

HANCOCK COUNTY EMERGENCY RELIEF FUND.

This fund is operated round the clock under the direction of the clergy of Hancock County, to assist local and transient persons and their families with emergency needs. Help is given to those not qualified for immediate assistance from other local charitable and service organizations.

HANCOCK COUNTY CHAPTER.

This disaster preparedness and relief program is always in readiness. They spent two and a half million dollars in Hancock County following Hurricane Camille. Red Cross conducts classes in swimming, water safety and first aid. Round the clock is given to the military man, his family and to the veteran.

GULF COAST MENTAL HEALTH CENTER.

They operate a clinic and treatment center in Gulfport for persons of all ages, which is staffed with psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers to evaluate and treat mental and emotional illness. Their specialists conduct the Silver Creek Hancock County School for the developmentally delayed child, and do extensive work in our schools in evaluation and correction of problems which are presented in the growing child.

CATHOLIC SOCIAL SERVICES.

Their social workers handle cases in the home which involve the entire family, filling a great need in matters of marriage counselling, family enrichment, marriage encounter and family relationship. They work extensively with the elderly and their families. Foster homes for unwed mothers are provided. They handle adoptions and counsel foster parents and children.

GULFSIDE BOYS HOME.

This is a charitable institution, providing a home for needy boys in a residential treatment facility which has a non-institutional setting. The home has as its purpose the development of social, academic and vocational skills. Its goal is to return the boy to his natural home, or to a foster home on a self management basis.

GIRL SCOUTS - GULF PINES COUNCIL.

There are seven thousand girls in the council, with three hundred and fifty local girls participating in the 19 Hancock County troops, led by 100 adults. In addition to training programs and civic activities, the girls enjoy fellowship and fun, along with preparation for young womanhood. Their fine camp "Ita Kana" provides happy weekend and summer vacations.

BOY SCOUTS - CYPRESS DISTRICT.

Boy scouting is a character building preparation for adult life. It provides a boy with training, while he enjoys adventure, fun and companionship under father leadership. Hundreds of Hancock County boys participate in the program, which includes two fine camps "Vee Bar" and "Camp Salmen".

HANCOCK COUNTY BLOOD BANK.

Since 1953 this very important organization has been working with our people to give blood, which is drawn and stored by Red Cross. Because of the work of this agency many lives have been saved. The Blood Bank keeps us aware of the need to donate blood, and the need is great.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES.

Their Bay St. Louis store gives handicapped individuals an opportunity for gainful employment. The organization is dedicated to rehabilitation of the physically, mentally and emotionally disabled person. Donations of usable items provide good wearable clothing to persons in the community.

FIREMEN'S DOLL AND TOY FUND.

At Christmastime each year our local firemen play Santa Claus to our needy children in the Waveland and Bay St. Louis area, and these two cities help provide the funds. Merchants are most helpful and RSVP volunteers wrap the gifts. In fact it is a joyful community project.

U.S.O. (WORLDWIDE)

This organization provides a home away from home for the military man and his family. The small contribution we give them represents our share of financial assistance for the help they give our local men in the armed forces.

SEA COAST ECHO-AUGUST 24, 1978-1C

WHAT IS THE UNITED WAY OF HANCOCK COUNTY?

The United Way is a fund raising, service, information, communication and educational organization which belongs to the people of Hancock County. It is your instrument of local charity. It represents the fair share contributions of our people, given in a single campaign to the organizations included in the Fund. Your United Way of Hancock County and its Agencies work on a day-to-day basis to assist our people with their human needs.

WHO OPERATES THE UNITED WAY OF HANCOCK COUNTY?

A Board of Directors, all volunteers, selected by the contributors. The United Way of Hancock County is controlled and operated by its own local citizens.

THERE'S DOUBLE PLEASURE WHEN YOU KNOW YOU ARE GIVING WISELY - YOUR ONE GIFT WORKS MANY WONDERS - WHEN YOU GIVE THE UNITED WAY.

THANKS TO YOU IT WORKS FOR ALL OF US.

WHAT DOES THE UNITED WAY OF HANCOCK COUNTY DO?

It offers every individual and company an opportunity for wise, effective and easy giving to help support many of the worthwhile service and charitable organizations operating in Hancock County, which need and deserve our voluntary contributions. Funds received are budgeted and paid out to the participating agencies under the direction and control of the Board of Directors.

WHY AREN'T ALL FUND-RAISING ORGANIZATIONS IN THE UNITED WAY?

United Way affiliation is voluntary. Some organizations are bound by policies of their national headquarters, which do not permit them to participate in local federated campaigns. There are also organizations which do not meet the strict requirements of sound management. The United Way maintains an open door policy to all organizations which qualify. One of the basic requirements is that they provide a needed service to the people of Hancock County.

HOW MUCH OF MY CONTRIBUTION GIES TO THE EXPENSES OF THE DRIVE AND OPERATING EXPENSE?

The United Way of Hancock County campaign and operating expense runs approximately 8%. The small drives sometime average as high as 30% of the campaign costs and overhead.

United Way meetings are held at 4:00 P.M. on the second Tuesday of each month. All of our citizens are invited.
